THE 7-DAY MONK MODE STARTER KIT

MONK-MODE

WELCOME & HOW TO USE THIS EBOOK

Hey,

Most productivity content is useless. Not because the ideas are wrong — but because nobody tells you what to actually do on Monday morning.

This guide does that.

7 days. One task per day. Nothing complicated.

By Day 7 you'll have a real protocol, a money skill chosen, and a written promise to someone who matters to you. That's more than most people do in a year of watching videos about "changing their life."

Start today. Not tomorrow.

That feeling you just felt watching that?

That is exactly why you downloaded this kit.

You already know something needs to change.
You already know you are capable of more.

The only question now is —
are you going to do something about it or are you going to close this and go back to the same routine?

The next 7 days are your answer.

Turn the page. Day 1 starts now.

THE 7-DAY DAILY PROTOCOL

7 Days. One Task Each.

Don't overthink it. Just do the task for that day and move on.

Day 1 — Decide Write down why you're doing this. One sentence. Be brutally specific — not "I want a better life." What does better actually mean for you?

Day 2 — Cut Delete 3 apps from your phone that waste your time. Don't think about it. Just delete them.

Day 3 — Move 30 minutes of any physical movement. A walk counts. The point is you don't stay still.

Day 4 — Sit 10 minutes of silence. No phone. No music. Just sit there and watch your thoughts without chasing them.

Day 5 — Promise Pick one person you love. Write them a specific, dated promise. Not "I'll do better." Something real — a number, a date, a thing.

Day 6 — Learn Pick one skill: copywriting, video editing, web design, sales, or automations. Spend 30 minutes on it today. Just 30 minutes.

Day 7 — Lock in Write your 6 non-negotiables for the next 90 days. Sign it like you mean it.

What's Actually Draining You

Check off what you're cutting for the next 90 days. Be honest.

YOUR FIRST IPA LIST

INCOME-PRODUCING ACTIVITIES

Start Here

An IPA is any action that directly moves money toward you. Not organizing folders. Not watching tutorials for the fifth time. The actual work.

If you're offering a freelance service:

- Send 20 cold DMs to potential clients
- Follow up with people who didn't reply last week
- Post one piece of content showing your skill
- Build a case study — even a fake one to start
- Get on a sales call, even if you're nervous
- Spend 1 hour on your chosen skill — no multitasking
- Take actual notes, not passive watching
- Practice on a fake brief
- Study one person who's already good at it
- Apply what you learned to something real today

If you're building an agency:

- Research 10 businesses in your niche
- Send outreach to 5 of them today
- Close one client at any price just to get a testimonial
- Find a contractor who can deliver the service
- Build a simple one-page portfolio

Pick your top 3 IPAs every morning. Do those before you do anything else.

If you have no skill yet:

THE MINDSET RESET FRAMEWORK

FIVE THINGS TO REMIND YOURSELF DAILY

Read these every morning until they stop feeling like something you need to read.

- 1. Where you are is not where you stay. Your current situation is not a life sentence. It's just today's starting point.
- 2. Discipline gives you options. People think discipline is about restriction. It's not. The undisciplined person has no real choices — they just react. The disciplined one decides.
- 3. Readiness comes after you start. You're waiting to feel ready. That feeling doesn't come first. Do the work. The confidence follows.
- 4. Nobody is coming. Not your family. Not a lucky break. Not the government. You are the plan. The sooner that lands, the sooner you stop waiting.
- 5. Small days build big years. One focused hour a day is 365 hours a year. Most people never put that into their goals in their entire life. You don't need to sprint. You need to keep going.
